

2 Windows Store for multi-device purchases

Microsoft The worst part about the Windows Phone is its lack of apps. With a new Windows Store in Windows 10, users can buy apps once that work across their computers, smartphones, and tablets.

Microsoft is working to make it as simple as possible for app developers to make the good stuff available on Windows 10.

3 Windows Hello's facial recognition sign-in

Microsoft Windows 10 will let you log in to your computer just by getting a look at your face in the webcam.

It's called "Windows Hello."
